RELG-2233. Women and Religion (WSGS)

Religion has often been seen as a male domain, with women excluded from religious leadership and public life. This course explores the ways in which women have shaped and been shaped by religion throughout history. We will examine the roles of women in various religious traditions, including Christianity, Islam, and Judaism. We will also explore the ways in which women have challenged and transformed religious institutions and practices. The course will conclude with a discussion of contemporary issues related to women and religion, such as the ordination of women and the role of women in the public square.
