

most reverend Chancellor, it is our distinct honour to present to you the woman, author, mother, grandmother, sister, wife, scholar, writer, and activist for indigenous critical studies

[The following text is heavily obscured by a dense pattern of black and white noise, making it illegible.]

... and ...
... and ...
... and ...

[The following text is heavily obscured by a dense pattern of black and white noise, making it illegible.]

[The following text is heavily obscured by a dense pattern of black and white noise, making it illegible.]

[The following text is heavily obscured by a dense pattern of black and white noise, making it illegible.]

[The following text is heavily obscured by a dense pattern of black and white noise, making it illegible.]

Culture at Western Washington University and Distinguished Visiting Scholars in